Dear Bruce

The more I think about events over the past few weeks the more one appreciates the reality and closeness of the universal position. Surely they witness the injustice of the vicious attacks emanating from Western Australia.

I've circulated the single sheet summary of Jed's accident to a few brethren but the longer version is just for you!

I enclose copies of newspaper reports which seem to focus on the good that has come out of the tragedy.

What do you think of the TV coverage? We have not suggested giving an interview but wonder whether some sort of statement would be appropriate. I would quite like to know which TV channel mentioned God's Name so consistently when relating the incident. Above all, I'm concerned not to lose the moral import of what has happened.

Health and Safety are collecting information from all parties involved. I don't think they'll leave a stone unturned. They've got a video of the rescue operation.

I'll be in touch later.

Yours in Christ

Lance Christie
